1. Answer Section A or Section B in this question:- [75]

A. Translate into Latin:-

When the Roman citizens heard the news, they were so disturbed that the consul, who had come to the city to find money, immediately fled from Rome. The messengers had announced that Caesar was already approaching Rome with his army and that his enemies should quickly leave the city. The people feared that Caesar would kill all those who had resisted him the previous year. Some prepared to leave Rome, others gathered in the Forum to wait for Caesar's arrival. When Caesar finally entered the city, he spared all his enemies and ordered the citizens to return to their houses without fear and to care for themselves and their children.

B. Read the following passage and answer, in English, all the questions which follow:-

(Pliny praises his wife, Calpurnia, in a letter to her aunt; he feels the marriage will last)

Non dubito maximo tibi gaudio fore, cum cognoveris Calpurniam dignam patre, dignam te, dignam avo esse. Summum est acumen, summa frugalitas ; amat me, quod virtutis indicium est. Accedit his studium litterarum, quod ex mei amore concepit. Meos libellos habet, legit, discit etiam. Quam sollicita est cum acturus sum ! quanto cum finivi gaudio adficitur. Calpurnia, si quando recito, in proximo tacite spatio, sedet. Laudesque nostras avidissimis auribus excipit. His ex causis in spem certissimam adducor, perpetuam nobis maioremque in dies futuram esse concordiam. Non enim aetatem meam aut corpus, quae paulatim occidunt ac senescunt, sed gloriam diligit. Nec aliud decet puellam tuis manibus educatam, tuis consiliis institutam ; nihil apud te vidit nisi sanctum honestumque ; et me amare ex tua praedicatione consuevit. Acriter ergo tibi gratias agimus, ego quod illam mihi, illa quod me sibi dederis.

avus: grandfather. acumen : intelligence. frugalitas : thrift. accedit= in addition.
libellus : a book. concordia : harmony. diligo : I love. decet (+accus.): it is fitting.

illi haec inter se dubiis de rebus agebant certantes: castra Aeneas aciemqueque movebat.
nuntius ingenti per regia tecta tumultu ecce ruit, magnisque urbem terroribus implet:
instructos acie Tiberino a flumine Teucros Tyrrhenamque manum totis descendere campis.
extemplo turbati animi, concussaque vulgi pectora, et arrectae stimulis haud mollibus irae.
arma manu trepidi poscunt; fremit arma iuventus;
flent maesti mussantque patres. Virgil (65) ago: I discuss. certo: I contend. concutio: I disturb. arrigo: I rouse.

B. (Dido accuses Aeneas of wanting to leave her in a vain search for a new homeland)

certus es ire tamen miseramque relinquere Didon, atque idem venti vela fidemque ferent?
certus es, Aenea, cum foedere solvere naves, quaeque ubi sint nescis Italia regna sequi?
nec nova Carthago nec te crescentia tangunt moenia, nec sceptro tradita summa tuo?
facta fugis, facienda petis: quaerenda per orbem altera, quaesita est altera terra tibi.
ut terram invenias, qui eam tibi tradet habendam?
quis sua non notis arva tenenda dabit? Ovid (65) foedus: a promise. tango: I influence. sceptrum: royal authority. summa= supreme power.

ut=even though. arvum: field.

C. (Hasdrubal is ordered to march to Italy: he wants his successor to be appointed)

Nec diu in pacto mansit; nam inde ab Carthagine allatum est, ut Hasdrubal primo quoque tempore in Italiam exercitum duceret. Quae vulgata res per Hispaniam omnium ferme animos ad Romanos avertit. Itaque Hasdrubal extemplo litteras Carthaginem mittit, indicans, quanto fama profectionis suae damno fuisset; si vero inde pergeret, priusquam Hiberum transiret, Romanorum Hispaniam fore; namque praeterquam quod nec praesidium nec ducem haberet, quem relinqueret pro se, eos imperatores esse Romanos, quibus vix aequis viribus resisti possit. Itaque si ulla Hispaniae cura esset, succesorem sibi cum valido exercitu mitterent; cui si omnia prospere evenirent, non tamen otiosam provinciam fore.
Livy (65)

praeterquam quod: apart from the fact that. prospere: successfully. otiosus: undisturbed.

D. (Cicero says that he and many others are ready for Verres' trial; he claims that Verres intends to use bribery)

Nunc homo audacissimus atque amentissimus hoc cogitat. Intellegit me ita paratum atque instructum in iudicium venire, ut non modo in auribus vestris sed in oculis omnium sua furta atque crimina defixurus sim. Videt senatores multos esse testes audaciae suae, videt multos equites Romanos, frequentes praeterea cives atque socios, quibus ipse insignes iniurias fecerit. Videt etiam tot graves ab amicissimis civitatibus legationes cum publicis auctoritatibus convenisse. Quae cum ita sint, usque eo de omnibus bonis male existimat, usque eo senatoria iudicia perdita profligataque esse arbitratur, ut hoc palam dictitet, non sine causa se cupidum pecuniae fuisse, quoniam in pecunia tantum praesidium experiatur esse.

Cicero (65)

amens: senseless. furtum: theft. defigo : I fix upon. usque eo: to such a degree.
perditus: corrupt. profligatus: degraded. dictito: I boast. experior: I learn by experience.

Mago proximae silentio noctis profectus, quantum pati viae per vulnus poterat itineribus extentis, ad mare in Ligures Ingaunos pervenit. Ibi eum legati ab Carthagine paucis ante diebus in sinum Gallicum appulsis navibus adierunt, iubentes primo quoque tempore in Africam traicere: id et fratrem eius Hannibalem-nam ad eum quoque isse legatos eadem iubentes-facturum; non in eo esse Carthaginiensium res, ut Galliam atque Italiam armis obtineant. Mago non imperio modo senatus periculoque patriae motus sed metuens etiam, ne victor hostis moranti instaret, Liguresque ipsi, relinqui Italiam a Poenis cernentes, ad eos quorum mox in potestate futuri essent deficerent, simul sperans leniorem in navigatione quam in via iactationem vulneris fore et curationi omnia commodiora, impositis copiis in naves profectus, vixdum superata Sardinia ex vulnere moritur.
